

THE ORDER

A NEW HORROR FILM

BY BRIAN M. WIXSON & AARON HANSON

THE ORDER

After an aspiring model and her colleagues get invited to perform at a mansion, they soon discover that their hosts are cannibals with a deadly agenda.

STAR is an aspiring runway model, strolling the catwalks of low-end fashion shows in New York City, with her friends.

While most are happy with their blossoming career, MELANGE is very negative and has a superior attitude. They all receive a message from their agent that they have been selected for an elite fashion show featuring a new line of an undisclosed big-name fashion designer. They eagerly accept and are soon whisked away on a private bus to a mansion in Saugerties, NY.

They are greeted by BOSS LADY to learn the rules of the event which SUZAN protests, but relents when the alternative is to be sent home without pay. They are then shown around the mansion by RED. During the tour, we find that Star's boyfriend MICHAEL snuck in with them. While the models are getting ready upstairs, the guests are by the pool and greeted by BARON. Michael notices how the group acts more like a cult instead of being at an elite fashion show.

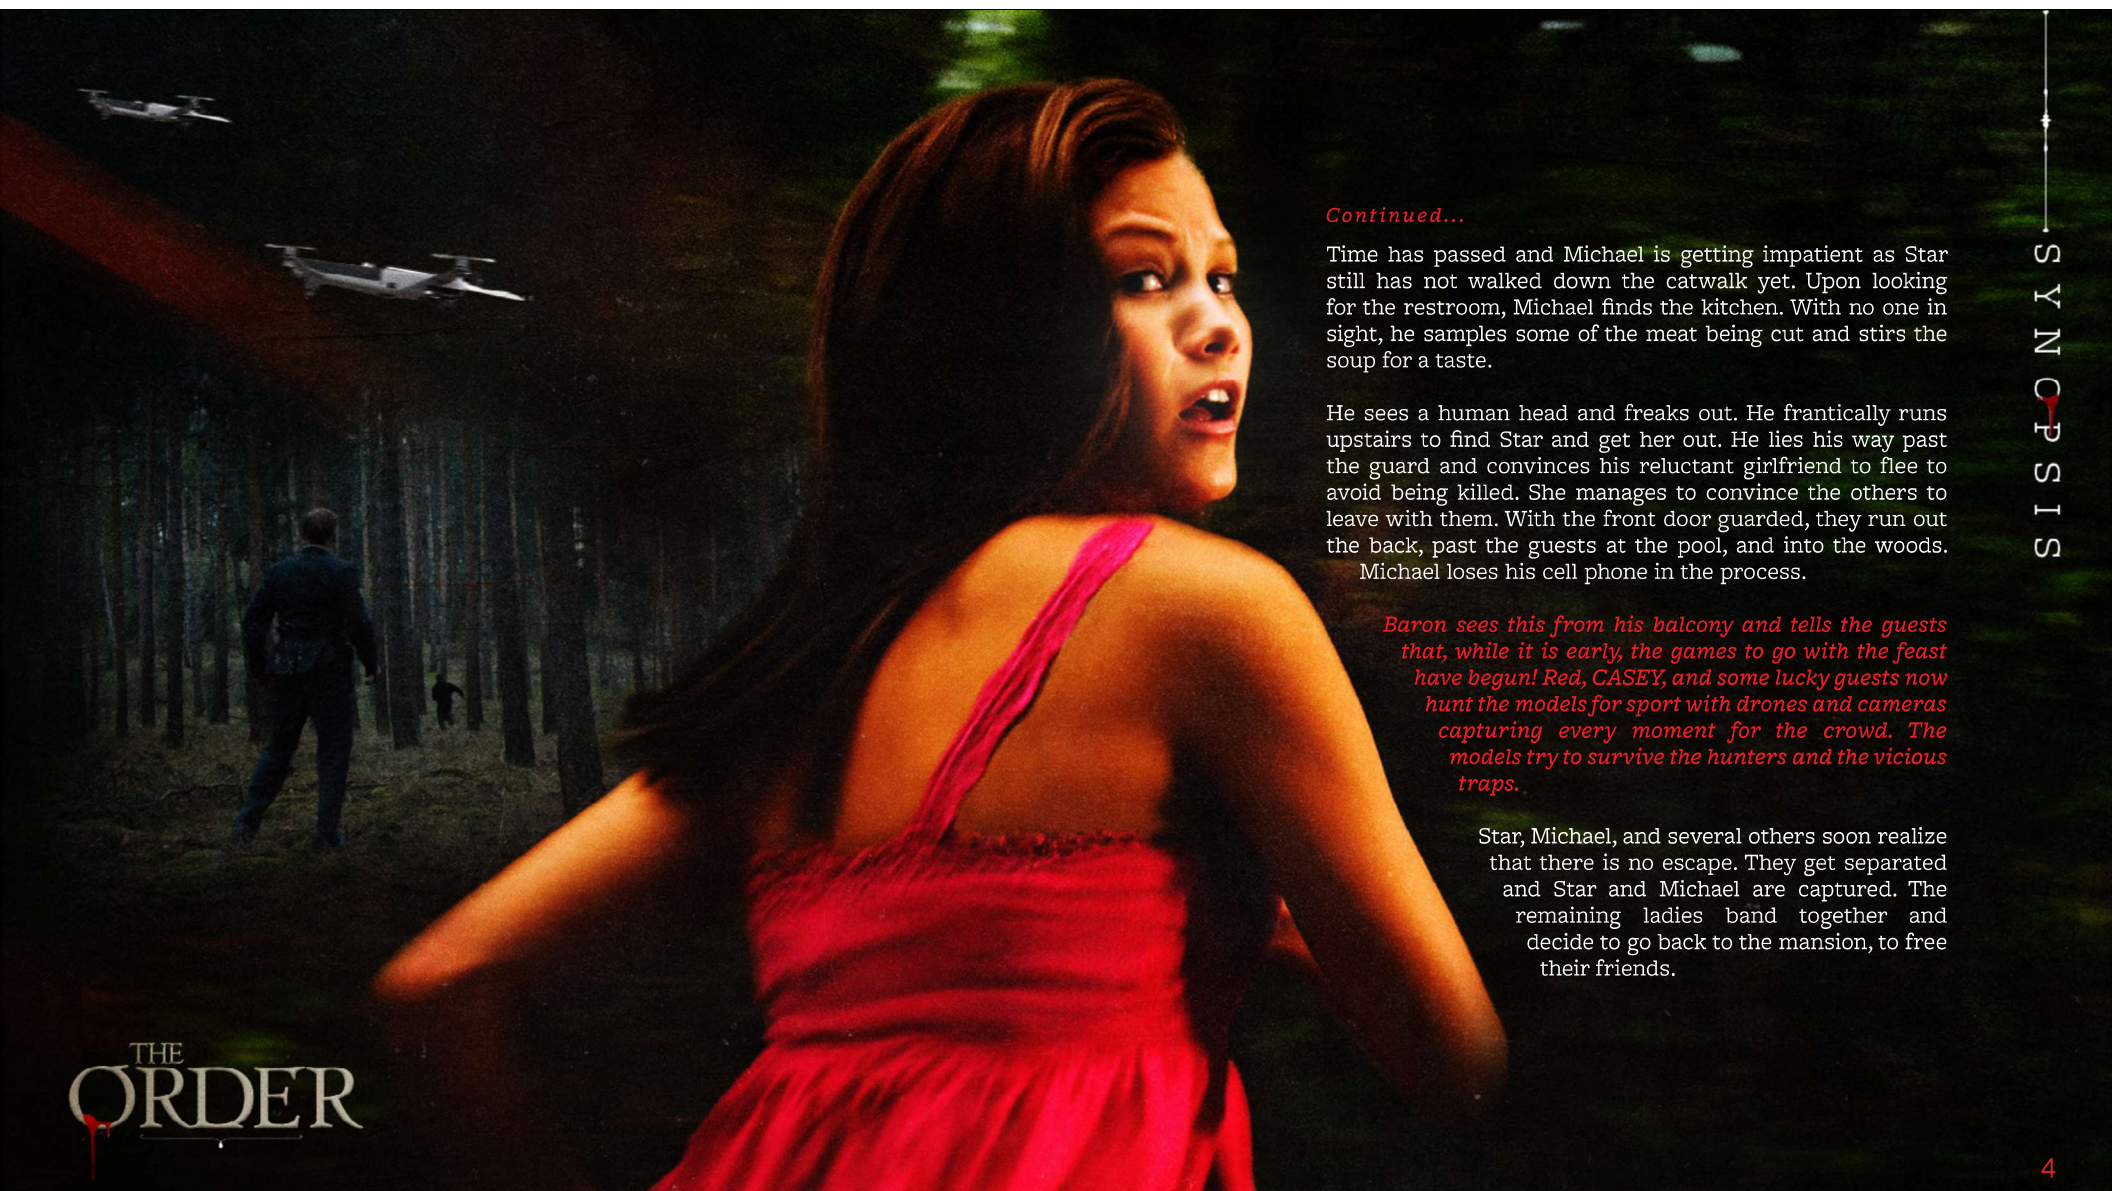

The models are brought to the runway downstairs a dozen at a time. Michael watches the first group and reads the catalogue of models. He pauses on Star's page and beams with pride. Boss Lady gives a brief description of each model as they walk. Guests check off the models they like.

After the first round is over, the group meets by the elevator backstage. Those that were not selected go back to the dressing room. Those that were selected get on the elevator. Three models that are specially selected go down the hall to a private dressing room. Melange is part of the group on the elevator. She still acts superior while the others seem happy and excited.

The doors open and they scream in horror!

ORDER

Continued...

Time has passed and Michael is getting impatient as Star still has not walked down the catwalk yet. Upon looking for the restroom, Michael finds the kitchen. With no one in sight, he samples some of the meat being cut and stirs the soup for a taste.

He sees a human head and freaks out. He frantically runs upstairs to find Star and get her out. He lies his way past the guard and convinces his reluctant girlfriend to flee to avoid being killed. She manages to convince the others to leave with them. With the front door guarded, they run out the back, past the guests at the pool, and into the woods. Michael loses his cell phone in the process.

Baron sees this from his balcony and tells the guests that, while it is early, the games to go with the feast have begun! Red, CASEY, and some lucky guests now hunt the models for sport with drones and cameras capturing every moment for the crowd. The models try to survive the hunters and the vicious traps.

Star, Michael, and several others soon realize that there is no escape. They get separated and Star and Michael are captured. The remaining ladies band together and decide to go back to the mansion, to free their friends.

Continued...

Michael and Star wake up inside a dungeon cell under the mansion. Baron and Boss Lady antagonize them until the chef, CUTTER, comes to zap Michael with a cattle prod and take him to be ground up and served to the dogs. (Only models are served to the guests).

Star watches on a screen as the 3 specially selected models are ripped apart and eaten alive for the amusement of the crowd as their dinner is served. Star manages to break out of her cell and escapes. She grabs the cattle prod and finds the kitchen to save Michael, killing Cutter in the process.

The models make it back to the mansion and sneak in through the kitchen, finding the dead Cutter, and grab weapons. They find a couple in the shower cleaning themselves from eating the models alive. In disgust, they kill them. They realize how this ordeal has changed them and what they are capable of in order to survive.

They dial 911 from a cell phone they take from a guard they kill. After finding Star and Michael, they all head to the Main Room to attack the hosts and guests. Chaos ensues as some guests fight back and others flee. Enraged, Star easily kills Boss Lady and Baron.

Police and emergency news crews arrive, and the front yard is filled with lights, action, and helicopters above. Detectives try to get statements from the group while Michael and Star are treated for injuries in the back of an ambulance.

One woman is talking to a news reporter with a cameraman. In the distance is a very angry Casey. He quotes "Casey at the Bat" as he swings his bat and launches a rock at the woman giving the interview. He walks away and never looks back. The woman is struck in the head live on camera and it becomes mayhem.
